Overflow crowd hears Commission's verdict

By a unanimous vote at 11:30 p.m. Tuesday, the Planning Commission denied the application for a use permit for a drive-in theater to be located at Campbell and Bascom avenues.

The proponents of the drive-in can appeal the decision to the City Council. But, their spokesman, Leo Ruth, after the commission's verdict Tuesday, did not indicate whether this would be done.

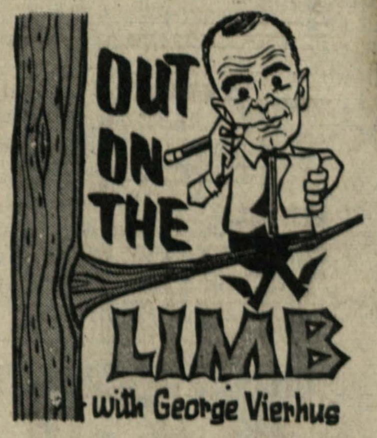
An overflow crowd, comprised mostly of residents in the immediate area of the proposed theater, had to wait for more than three hours for the fateful decision. But they went home happy.

The application for a use permit had been filed by the Bank of America, representing the Brynteson estate owners of the choice 28-acre parcel on the Bascom-Campbell intersection. The application specified that United California Theatres would develop the property.

The hearing Tuesday was a continuation of one held on August 16 when the arguments pro and con were first presented. So Chairman Thayer Lyons requested that both proponents and opponents offer only new evidence. Most of those participating adhered to the chairman's request.

Leo Ruth, of the engineering firm that had drafted the plans, again presented the case for the drive-in. He cited a report from Palo Alto and Sunnyvale drive-ins showing that adults outnumbered teenagers in attendance. Thomas Salciccia, a San Jose attorney and owner of property near the proposed theater, also spoke in favor of such an operation.

David L. Finch, Campbell attorney representing homeowners in the area, led the opposition and almost a score of residents got to their feet to strike a blow or two against the auto-movies in that location.



THE TIGHT NATIONAL LEAGUE pennant race has the followers of the national pastime on pins and needles. Six teams at this stage of the game still have a chance of coming in first.

There is also the possibility of a complicated playoff in the offing, if some of the teams end in a traffic jam at the top when the season ends.

This season will be remembered for many years, but only because of the nip and tuck race for the flag but, in addition, there is the celebrated Roseboro-Marichal fracas to embellish it, if that is the proper way to describe that eruption in Candlestick.

We are certain that Juan would like everyone to forget that bat-wielding incident at home plate. But such a display is not easy to erase from people's minds. Those who were in the stands at the time will vividly recall that episode.

UNFORTUNATELY it was a display of poor sportsmanship. It gave an impression of the traditional American sport that those who deal with youth in Little League and up will have a difficult time counteracting.

We are not saying that there will be a rash of Little Leaguers using bats on their opponents next year because of Juan's uncalled for action. We have more confidence in their leaders than that.

But admittedly it will take some explaining, if such an action can be explained.

FIVE CAMPBELL Press carriers, for example, were in the stands at the game. These youngsters were treated to the game for being winners in the summer circulation contest conducted by the paper.

Kurt Ritter, who conducted the summer circulation campaign, and his fiancee, Miss Ellen Floyd, took the five winners, Joe Giorgianni, Jeff Coker, Elwood Wilson, Craig Chicoine, and Pat Corcoran, to the ball game.

Kurt knew he had something pretty good going for the kids when he purchased the tickets early in the summer. That Dodger-Giant battle was a sellout far in advance as you recall. The carriers really worked to make the top five.

Kurt did not bargain for the added feature which took place at home plate.

He admitted to some queasy moments when the battle started, coming on the heels of the Watts riots in southern California, Kurt had horrible thoughts of the stands emptying and full-scale war taking place on the ball diamond.

And there he was with

At Council meeting

Tempers flare on San Tomas issue

Tempers flared briefly at the special City Council meeting last Wednesday when Mayor Charles Rose suggested that a comprehensive planning study was needed of the San Tomas area before any new development was approved by the city.

Before the council finally passed a watered-down version of Rose's proposals, the four council members present tangled verbally and heatedly over the necessity of such a plan in the first place.

The verbal battle followed the same alignment as the council divided vote in the rejection of the plans of Topaz Builders for a shopping center at Hacienda and San Tomas, except one councilman was missing.

The suggestion by Rose was a direct result of the highly controversial and long drawn out shopping center issue for the San Tomas area. The council by a 3-2 vote turned down the plans.

The rejection by the council overruled a unanimous ruling of the Planning Commission approving the shopping center.

Complicating the issue was the opposition of the Turturicci family, owners of Big Boy Market at Hacienda and Capri and the Smith family, owners of the San Tomas Village Shopping Center.

Through their attorney, Emory Delmas, the Turturici family have maintained over the years that they plan to expand their present modest market into a similar shopping center as that planned by Topaz. They claimed that the area could not support both centers.

The Smith family opposition was similar.

Residents of the San Tomas area adjacent to the proposed Topaz center at Hacienda and San Tomas attended the hearings and vociferously proclaimed the need for such a center as was planned.

When the council turned down the Topaz plans, these residents made no secret of their displeasure at the council's action. A delegation from that section was also present last Wednesday when the matter of the master plan for San Tomas was suggested by Mayor Rose.

Rose ticked off 10 points involving streets, storm drains, schools, flood conditions and new freeways, that, he maintained, could affect the planning and development of the area. He maintained that it was

IN THE LION DEN-- Lt. Don Burr, of the Campbell Police Department, poses with two ornamental stone lions that were found several months ago by members of the department and as yet have been unclaimed. This Saturday, Sept. 11, the department will auction off the lions and numerous other unclaimed articles, including 25 bikes and the automobile tires in the foreground. Burr will begin the auction at the police station at 10 a.m.

City adds to Campbell park

If the City of Campbell is going to acquire property for parks or to make other civic improvements in the future, a bond issue will be necessary.

This was indicated at the last City Council meeting when the council agreed to purchase two lots on Gilman Ave. adjacent to the city park.

At the meeting, the councilmen indicated they agreed with the suggestion of Councilman Ralph Doetsch that the purchase of the Gilman Ave. lots for park purposes would be the last before a bond issue was presented to the voters. Doetsch, after first making his views known, reluctantly voted for the purchase.

The two lots on which there are now dwellings at 72 and 78 Gilman, are owned by Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Hall and Mr. and Mrs. L.G. Hall. The purchase price agreed upon is $12,000.

The property abuts the park area, and city officials point out, they are needed to provide adequate parking facilities for the park.

In another action involving money, the council approved transferring city funds to the First Valley Bank in Campbell because that bank made the best offer of any bank in the city for interest paid on time deposits.

In a complicated financial action, the First Valley Bank will pay the city 4.5% interest on city time deposits of the city which are estimated to be approximately $300,000.

City Manager Bob Stephens reported that all the local banks had been contacted.

Schools in area open on Monday

Campbell Union (Elementary) School District will open for a full day of classes on Monday, September 13. School offices are now open daily for the registration and placement of new students in all 19 schools.

It is expected that the opening enrollment will exceed 11,600. This is an increase of 794 over the closing enrollment in June of this year.

Cafeterias will be open in all schools to provide hot lunches for all students on opening day. The cost of student meals will continue to be 35¢ per day or $1.75 per weekly ticket. Menus are ready for distribution to students on opening day, and parents of new registrants will receive them at the time of registration.

The Board of Trustees has made provisions for a full room-size library in every school for the first time, according to William Parton, board president. This has been made possible by leasing seven portable classrooms for the housing of increased enrollment. The use of portables for increased enrollment will make other more centrally located classrooms available for school libraries, Parton said. Shelving has been installed, library tables and chairs provided, and libraries are ready for opening day with more than 8.1 books per pupil.

The City of Campbell has provided an adult crossing guard for the Hamilton Ave. crossing in front of Rosemary School, and the City of Saratoga is providing an adult crossing guard for the Ravenswood-Quito crossing for Marshall Lane students.

One or more staff members from each of the Campbell Schools received Fire Safety Training from the local fire department during the summer, and all schools are planning a program of increased emphasis on fire and playground safety this year.

Jim D'Avis, former Castlemont School Principal, has assumed his new position as Assistant Superintendent effective July 1, 1965. John Duncan, after ARTISTS IN ACTION - A novel sidewalk art show will take place at the Campbell Shopping Center, Winchester at Latimer, this Friday and Saturday. Members of the Pacific Independent Artists Cooperative will exhibit and offer for sale more than 100 articles of art work.

In the photo on the left above, a group of the artists display some of the paintings that will be exhibited on the sidewalk in front of the stores in the shopping center Friday and Saturday. Left to right, Sybil Chun, Ditty Smith, Doris Cutting and Vera Ogilvie.

In the center photo above, appears a special star of the show, posing with beret and brush. The character has the official name of Damar's Zaar of Westfield, U.D. and is owned by Mrs. Marion Goldmen, of San Jose, one of the artists who will be taking part in the art show. He goes by "Zaar" for short.

In the photo on the right, the group of artists pose in front of the newly-remodeled Campbell Drugs in the shopping center.

West Valley College expects 4000 in classes this fall

A starting enrollment of 4,600 students taking courses for credit is expected when West Valley College opens for its second year on Sept. 13 in the former Campbell Grammar School at Winchester Blvd. and Campbell Ave.

Because of the last-minute rush of students seeking admission to extended day classes at the college, an extra day of registration prior to actual class meetings has been set, according to Nero Pruitt, dean of extended day.

Students may register today (Wednesday, Sept. 8) from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. It has been planned previously to end pre-class registration on Tuesday of this week.

Up to last week, Dr. Wallace Hall, college president, reported that 4042 students had been programmed of which 2506 were day students and 1536 were extended day. Another 600 were scheduled before the start of classes.

Yet to be registered are adult, non-credit students who will register during the first week of actual classes. In addition releases to 536 others have been issued to attend other junior colleges, Hall reported.

As classes begin for the second year in the temporary quarters that formerly housed the elementary grades, the question of the development of a permanent site for the college is still a troublesome one.

Twice bond issues for site acquisition funds failed to obtain the necessary two-thirds majority vote which has limited the future building plans of a permanent campus in the Saratoga area. However, some of the parcels needed for the campus have already been purchased and the district is moving toward acquiring more.

Last week the West Valley College board released locations of 10 Santa Clara campus sites under study. It was emphasized that 125-130 acres was needed and in several of the parcels considered thus only a portion of the total acreage would be required.

All the sites are within the college district. Access varies from adequate to good, according to investigation that has been made. Some of the sites are partially within the flight pattern of the San Jose Municipal Airport but do not pose major problems, the report reveals.

Building continues in Moreland area

Sixteen elementary and junior high schools in the Moreland School District will open on Monday, September 13. Additional classrooms and cafetoriums are presently under construction at a number of schools in the district.

Cafetoriums for all the schools in the District are expected to be completed by spring. Some are under construction now and others are expected to start soon.

Eleven new classrooms are now being built at Bucknall School, 4300 Bucknall Rd. The school expects to double its attendance by January. In the meantime students will be transported by bus to other schools in the district.

At Campbell High School several rooms have been renovated and new equipment purchased. Two foreign exchange students will be in attendance this year. Approximately 1,500 students are anticipated this semester.

West Valley College prepares for big fall sports program

West Valley College's 45-man football squad is holding its first drills of the season in preparation for its nine game schedule this fall under head coach Bob Jones and assistant coaches Wayne Clay, Bob Sutter, and Jerry Colletto.

Coach Jones noted that the team is much farther along at this time than it was last year and that the team is in very high spirits.

First year men making good impressions are halfbacks Earl Freitas (Buchser) and Ken Ayers (Santa Clara), quarterback Larry Daniels (Leigh), and Ron Carothers (Leigh), and lineman Dave Ragan (Santa Clara). Casey Roberts, new to the district from Orange High in Southern California, and Catholic League All-Stars Rich Keith and Joe Waller should help the squad along with 1964 Bellarmine graduate Tom Albanese. Two transfers are joining the team, Bob Fischer from Santa Barbara and Bob Hewett from San Francisco State.

Returning sophs include guards Fred Falk, George Del Gado, and Roger Wintel, tackle Larry Hallen, ends Jim Tyrel and Frank Hutfless, halfback Mike Cowan, and fullback Dan Wilcox.

Last year's star halfback, Tom Gibbons, has an injury and will miss the first six days of practice.

The Vikings will open the season Sept. 25 against Oakland Merritt College. The game will be played at Buck Shaw Stadium on the University of Santa Clara campus, as will all home games this season. Game time will be 8 p.m. This season marks West Valley College's first football entry in the Coast Conference, after playing last year as an independent.

WATER POLO

West Valley College's water polo coach Mac Martinez, is optimistic about his team's chances this year. Even though he will have only five returnees from last year's squad, Coach Martinez thinks his team will be a formidable opponent in 1965.

Returnees include All-league first team selection Ken Lay and team high score Gary Gordon. An outstanding new face on the team will be Carter Smith, outstanding goalie from Los Gatos High School and Cal Poly. West Valley College opens play Sept. 17 and 18 in the College of Sequolas Tournament at Visalia.

CROSS COUNTRY

West Valley College's cross country team stands as a good bet to repeat as Coast Conference Champion in 1965. The team had a 14-0 record in 1964. All of the lettermen from last year's winning team will return and will be bolstered by the addition of several outstanding frosh. Coach Tom Smith's harriers will open their 1965 campaign at Cabrillo on Sept. 25.

his five young charges and his fiancee.

Fortunately, the people stayed in the stands.

But the exhibition on the ball field undoubtedly made a lasting impression on the youngsters. They will have something to talk about for years to come.

We would much rather they had a different memory of their Campbell Press prize.

CAMPBELL SHOPPING CENTER, at Winchester and Latimer, is sponsoring a unique event this Friday and Saturday at the shopping center.

A sidewalk art show is being held. Professional artists will not only exhibit more than 100 pictures but also the artists will demonstrate their skills by actually working while you watch.

Even those of us who are totally "unarty" in every respect will enjoy the show, for it is always intriguing, even if one knows nothing about it, to see artists in action.

We have long admired those people who are adept at depicting scenes and people on canvas. We stand in open-mouthed amazement as the picture takes form.

We know we will enjoy this sidewalk exhibit. We have had a preview of some of the art work that will be on display.

Pictures that will be exhibited can also be purchased on the spot, we have been told. And there are some outstanding ones, we assure you.

We think this touch of culture for a shopping center is worth while, even if we may not understand all we see.

WHEN THE BEATLES hit the Bay Area last week, the teenagers really had a time, to sort of understate it.

We have to admit that the Beatles don't do anything for us. But then we are ancient in the eyes of the teeners and our taste for music, as a result, is different. 'Way different.

Shucks, those youngsters don't even know who Guy Lombardo was.

The Press was not represented at any of the interviews that the merry boys from England held. It was a little out of our field.

But we had many requests from gals who wanted to be issued special press cards and represent The Press at the debacle.

Council meets next Monday

An appeal from a zoning decision of the Planning Commission, purchase of city vehicles and an annexation will feature the agenda of the City Council for next Monday's meeting at the city hall.

Ken Norton is asking the Council to overrule the zone denial of the Planning Commission on property located at Winchester and Alice. The commission turned down the request to change the property to C-2 to allow for a used car business at that location. The commission indicated the parcel was too small for that heavy zoning.

The council is also expected to act on the purchase of a 1966 Dodge for the police department under a state Highway Patrol contract and the purchase of a four-door sedan for the Fire Department.

An annexation off McGlincy in the North Central Park area is also expected to be approved without opposition. A tentative subdivision for the area has already gained the council's blessing.

necessary to learn what various other agencies were planning before the city could act properly.

But Rose's suggestion opened old wounds.

Absent from the meeting was Councilman Ed Rogers, who with Councilman Bob McElroy and Rose, voted to turn down the shopping center plans. Councilman Bill Smeed felt that the city's master plan covered the situation and that it would be an impossible task to get definite ideas of what the other agencies were planning. He added that turning down the Topaz center was an improper action, in his opinion.

McElroy supported Rose's plan and emphasized that the master plan of the city needed upgrading in all areas and that the San Tomas section was a good place to start.

Councilman Ralph Doetsch supported Smeed's contention.

Members of the San Tomas contingent at the meeting, plus Sanford Diller, attorney for Topaz who was also present, eagerly entered into the fray using the council action of turning down.

A stalemate was averted when Doetsch moved that the staff investigate some of the phases as outlined in Mayor Rose's proposal. The motion was carried unanimously then by the abbreviated council.

The staff is expected to make its report within 60 days.

All United Fund monies collected in this year's drive will be distributed among the UF's 66 welfare, citizenship-building and health agencies which offer Santa Clara County residents such services as home nursing care, marital counseling, physchiatric counseling.

Australian newspaper reports on AFS student

News travels from Australia to Campbell, Calif., in devious ways. A project engineer for Kaiser Co. in Australia, Hugh Fulton, saw an article in the Kingaroy newspaper, The South Burnett Times, and sent it to friends in the Bay Area who mailed it to The Campbell Press.

The article reports that Cheryl Robertson, 18, of Kingaroy, had been awarded an American Field Service scholarship and would spend the next 12 months in Campbell attending school.

The Press had already reported the story that Cheryl would be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Arnold and family of 340 N. Carlyn and would be attending Campbell High School. Arnold is a captain with the Campbell Police Department. Their daughter, Sherry, also attends Campbell High School.

The Australian version of the story is printed here:

AMERICAN SCHOLARSHIP FOR KINGAROY GIRL

An 18-year-old Kingaroy girl is one of 11 Queenslanders chosen for an American Field Service International Scholarship.

She is Cheryl Robertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Robertson, Edward Street, Kingaroy.

Cheryl who completed her senior at the Kingaroy High School has been a part time arts student at the Queensland University. She has also taken studies at a Business College.

Cheryl leaves Sydney by air on a special charter flight on July 27. All the students assemble at Sydney the previous night. On the flight to San Francisco the only stop-overs are at Nandi and Honolulu.

The Scholarship takes in the full 12 months and during their stay in the 'States, the students from time to time, will also have the opportunity to visit Mexico and Canada.

An American Field Service International Scholarship offers students an opportunity and understanding friendship among the peoples of the world. The students which are based throughout the secondary schools in the United States are in reality, ambassadors for Australia. At these public high schools, each student has to realise the community will judge Australia by what they see in either he or she.

During the year, each student lives as a member of a carefully selected foster family who accept the student without payment, and treats he or she as one of the family, with the same privileges and obligations as their own children.

Cheryl's foster family will be Mr. and Mrs. C. Arnold of Campbell, California. With a population of 11,800, Campbell is only a short distance from San Francisco. Cheryl stated yesterday that her appointment in the State of California was most appealing. If any spare time of relaxation came her way, it was indeed a most central position from which to visit some of the world's most famous tourist attractions.

Free symphony at Montalvo

A free symphony concert by a 40-piece orchestra under the direction of Dr. Gibson Walters, head of the music department of San Jose State College, will be presented in Villa Montalvo's outdoor amphitheatre in Saratoga on Sunday, Sept. 12 at 2 p.m.

The concert is sponsored by SJS music department and American Federation of Musicians, Local 153, and the two groups hope the event will become an annual scholarship benefit for String Congress and San Jose State College Music Department.

Dr. Walters also conducts the Santa Clara Philharmonic orchestra. Soloists will be Dr. Edwin Dunning, professor of music at SJS and noted opera and concert baritone; and Jack Russell on the French Horn, who also appears with the Santa Clara Philharmonic.

Mrs. Evelyn McGrath is chairman of the committee presenting the concert. Co-chairman is Mrs. Harold Witkin, and others assisting are Mrs. Jack Vogelman, decor; Mrs. Orrin Blattner, reception; and Wayne Sorenson, orchestra personnel.

PLANNING EXHIBIT - Mrs. Kenneth Buckley Jr., 876 La Plata Plaza, is working on an exhibit booth for the County Girl Scout Council at the Santa Clara County Fair, Sept. 13-19.

Nursery school slates meetings

Orientation meetings for the mothers of the Campbell Parents Nursery School will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 14 and Wednesday, Sept. 15 at 528 N. Harrison St., Campbell.

The purpose of the meeting will be to acquaint mothers with procedures of the school. Mrs. Helen Reidel, nursery school director and Mrs. Tom Llorens, president, will discuss the school program for the coming year. Anyone interested in the school is invited to attend.

Social Side

AUSTRALIAN VISITOR - Sherry Arnold (left), 340 N. Carlyn Ave. is introducing Miss Cheryl (Robbie) Robertson of Kingaroy, Australia, to friends at Campbell High School. Miss Robertson is the winner of an American Field Service Scholarship and will spend the next year here as a guest of the Carl Arnold family.

New hospital to hold open house this week-end

An invitation to attend a three-day "open house" at The Good Samaritan Hospital of Santa Clara Valley, on the outskirts of Campbell, was issued today by Floyd A. Sorensen, administrator.

The non-profit general hospital will be open to visitors Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 10, 11 and 12. Hours are 1 until 7 p.m. Friday and Sunday; 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. Saturday. This will be the only time visitors will be allowed in some areas of the eight-floor hospital.

It is located on Samaritan Drive, a new street cut into an orchard at S. Bascom and National. Its proximity to Campbell will mean it will service numerous residents of this area, according to Mr. Sorensen.

Two Campbell men, Joseph Dahl, a real estate broker, and Noel J. Brown, manufacturer, are active members of the volunteer board of directors. In addition, the hospital lists Campbell residents on its medical and dental staff roll, among its employees, and as members of the volunteer Auxiliary.

"We have had marvelous support from local residents during the fund-raising and building of this community hospital," declared Henry A. Oldenkamp, board president. "We hope many will take this opportunity to see what we have. We think it is one of the finest hospitals in the country-- not only in physical facilities, but in dedicated spirit."

St. Lucy's men invited to free dinner

All men of St. Lucy's Parish are invited to attend a free dinner next Monday evening, Sept. 13, in the parish hall, as guests of the Holy Name Society.

The dinner will be followed by a short business meeting at which time the overall plans for the year will be announced. The calendar of events for the year includes speakers on such controversial subjects as "Communism and the Conversion of Russia," and "Social Justice". CLEAN CHILDREN'S CLOTHES FOR SCHOOL
by John D. Cooper

Well, here it is -- another school year rolling around again!

So naturally that means that the children will begin making their daily trek to the classroom for the better part of the day.

You'll want them to look clean and bright, especially on the more important occasions and events.

So why not bring their clothes in for a good cleaning today? You know, we have a regular quick service, and if you get their clothes in now, we'll have them out for you in time for enrollment and the opening day of school.

Is there anything special you want done? A little mending? Alterations? Patches? Buttons missing? Zipper need replacing?

All that is part of putting the children's clothes in shape for the hard wear they'll get from now on. And yet you do want your children to look neater than they sometimes do around the house, don't you?

So-o-o . . . when you bring their clothes in, if there's anything we can do to help out, ask us. We'll be glad to help you over a busy week in every way we can.

And, whether it's the children's clothes or the grownups', remember that you'll always get the finest possible cleaning when you —

City okays Garden Club plan for Hamilton Ave. beautification

The City Council gave the "go ahead" sign to the Campbell Garden Club to plant trees and ground covering in the Hamilton Ave. Extension Median Strip, and also agreed to finance a portion of the project.

The Garden Club has offered to purchase 335 Maculosa and Desmondensis eucalyptus trees and the City has agreed to prepare the soil and extend an appropriate watering system to the area. The club's portion of the expense would amount to approximately $2,000, according to Mrs. Minnie Snyder, president of the Campbell Garden Club. The Club's suggested ground cover (Coprosna Kirkii) would be the obligation of the City also. It is estimated that 600 each of these plants would be required.

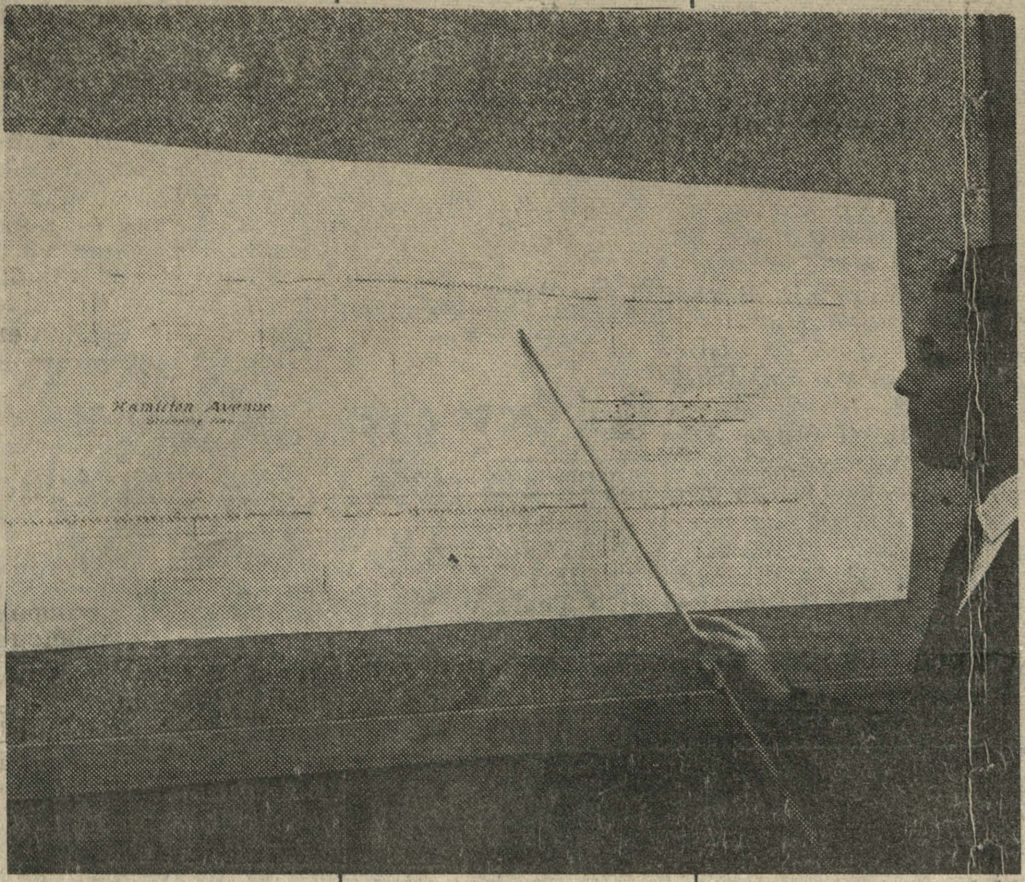
At last Monday night's City Council meeting, the club women, Mesdames Ward Brannan, James Hartman and Minnie Snyder, presented Barry Coates, a representative of the Santa Clara County Horticultural Society, who explained the reason for selecting this particular type of eucalyptus for the median planting, and answered questions from council members. Bill Helms of the City Engineering office displayed a map of the area involved and pointed out exactly where the plantings would be made.

The first strip to be planted at Hamilton and Winchester will be used as a model. This planting will be completed by November, according to Mrs. Snyder.

The Garden Club will solicit donations from the public to finance the project. The City's portion of the expense is expected to be approximately $5,000.

THEIR IDEA - These representatives of the Campbell Garden Club, Mesdames Ward Brannan, Minnie Snyder and James Hartman, (left to right) presented their plan to beautify the extension to Hamilton Ave. to the members of the Campbell City Council, which was granted approval.

ARBORICULTURIST SPEAKS - Barry Coates, representative of the Saratoga Historical Society, answers questions from the Campbell City Council concerning the planting of eucalyptus trees in the median strips along the extension of Hamilton Ave.



DESCRIBES AREA - Bill Helms of the City Engineering Department displays a map of the extension to Hamilton Ave. and points out the Median Strips to council members.

Schools open

Schools will soon be open again, and more children than ever will be back in the classrooms. Children will be crossing streets where they haven't been observed since school dismissed last June. They will be climbing on and off buses and standing on corners to and from their way to school. Motorists will need to be extra alert.

But what of the children? Shouldn't they know the safety rules and be extra cautious enroute to school, too?

The basic obligation for child safety rests upon the parent, says the California State Automobile Association. The parent should take time to inform his youngster on traffic safety before the school year begins.

There are several basic safety rules which parents should impress upon their school-age boys and girls at the start of the school year:

They include:

1. Look both ways before crossing the street.
2. Keep from between parked cars.
3. Obey traffic signals.
4. Face traffic when walking on roads without sidewalks.
5. Cross only at safe corners, and, if possible, only at corners where traffic is controlled.
6. Walk, don't run, across streets.

If children are taking a bus to school, it is wise for them to:

1. Leave home early enough to arrive at the stop on time.
2. Wait for the bus in a safe place.
3. Follow the instructions of the bus driver.
4. Be alert for traffic when leaving the bus and crossing the street.

Golden State Cleaners presents weekly column for homemakers

Golden State Cleaners, 2175 Winchester Blvd., Campbell, in this issue begins publication of a series of editorialized ad columns, according to John D. Cooper, owner of the concern.

"This series of articles," he said, "is designed to assist the housewife in conserving her family's wardrobe as well as other household fabric items. The information offered is the result of our long experience in textile care, buying and maintenance."

Cooper, who has been in the drycleaning business for the past 13 years here in Campbell said that merely by learning the fundamentals of garment preservation, the average family can save from $100 to $300 a year on clothing and household fabrics.

Cooper and his wife, Florence, both are available to answer questions on fabrics, stains, etc., at Golden State Cleaners, where regular drycleaning services as well as the new "do it yourself" cleaning equipment is available.

Cooper said, "Of course, we are always glad to help our customers although actually, the machines do all the work. By using self-service drycleaning, the consumer can save as much as 70% on cleaning. Most items will need little or no pressing afterwards and that is where the major savings are made."

Adult center gives course in oceanography

A repeat of the popular course in oceanography, space science, and biology with Fred Fisher, instructor, will start at Blackford Adult Center on Monday, Sept. 13.

The San Jose State natural scientist, Dr. Richard Hartesveldt, will repeat his course on natural history and nature study. Dr. Hartesveldt is carrying on a research project in the redwoods of the High Sierras and will bring new color slides and materials in the natural science field for his class demonstrations.

Astronomy for the amateur will be headed by the Lockheed employees observatory Director, Wesley Simpson. Trips to the Lick Observatory and to other points of interest will be included in the classroom activities.

The courses in chemistry and physics at high school level have some mathematics requirements.

These and 160 other courses are described in the Fall brochure available at 1945 Winchester Rd., or by phoning 379-4710, Campbell Adult Center, according to E. P. Stanley, Director.

Post 158
